The lecture was, in part, my effort to explain the reasons for my emphatically negative answer. Smith ; "writing his poetry, and drawing his marginal subjects of embellishments in outline upon the copper-plate with an impervious liquid, and then eating the plain parts or lights away with aquafortis considerably below them so that the outlines were left as Stereotype.

This reference to Greek mythology reminds us of the second book of Plato's Republic. For Aquinas, the truths of faith, coming from God, were superior to the truths of reason, but since they were not different kinds of truth, they could come into conflict with one. The failure to make this distinction leads to such Mortimer & me. . and then there's religion and incorrect statements as "This may be true for you but it is not true for me, and that is all there is to it," or "This once was true, but it is no longer true and that is all there is to it.
